About this property

Step inside 350 years of living history at Panchetgarh Rajbari — a heritage Rajbari homestay in Pataspur, Purba Medinipur, West Bengal, just 35 km from Kanthi and an easy drive from both Kolkata and Digha.

This is not a hotel designed to look old. It is a real, functioning zamindar bari where the temples are still worshipped in, the courtyards still echo with centuries of stories, and the kitchen still serves royal Bengali meals the way it has for generations. The ancient temples within the Rajbari complex are officially declared heritage sites by the West Bengal Heritage Commission — and the estate's famous Ras Utsav has been celebrated here for over 300 years.

We are a Government of West Bengal registered homestay under the WB Homestay Tourism Policy 2017.
